Darlene,

I am mailing you a letter similar to the last one.

I'm e-mailing you because I was not given enough time to respond by mail and meet your July 17th date. I only received the package today the 16th.

This newest form is asking me to acknowledge that prior art has been researched. After reviewing the patent application, I do not feel this has been done. There are too many things claimed that in my opinion are not patentable. I do not want my name associated with this patent application.

Thank you,

Robin Gudgel

July 7, 2001

Mr. Ron Pitt Xantrex Technology Inc.

Ron,

I have reviewed the claims Xantrex is making in regards to the Rail Mount project. Although I do acknowledge the fact that I did design the initial version of the product, I cannot in good faith agree to the claims stated and therefore will not sign.

Most of the claims Xantrex makes are the result of just good design practice such as I have been doing for 30 years.

I feel most of these claims have been used in numerous power conversion products before and are thus unenforceable. I myself have used many of these claims in years past at other companies. Where do you think I got the ideas from?

Sincerely,

Robin Gudgel
